07/23/2024 3:17 pm EDT

On the project fields template, navigate to the "Additional Unit Types" grid, and click the add option.

The screenshot shows the 'Project Fields Template' interface. On the left, there are 'Project Settings' with various dropdown menus. The main area is divided into four sections: 'Cards', 'Cards In/Out', 'Equipment', and 'Set Up'. The 'Set Up' section is expanded, showing a list of options including 'Main', 'Stage Lists', 'INPEX Return Statuses', 'Distribution Lists', 'Project Fields Template' (highlighted with a red circle and '1'), 'Package Layout', and 'Card States'. Below this, the 'Additional Unit Types' grid is visible, showing two rows: 'Steel' and 'NDE log', with a '+ Add New' button (highlighted with a red circle and '2') in the top right corner.

Once added, the new tab becomes available to assign display columns.

The screenshot shows the 'Equipment Fields' grid. The grid has columns for 'Field', 'Display Name', 'Field Management', and 'Tools'. The 'Field Management' section is further divided into 'Tagged Equipment' and 'Steel' and 'NDE log'. The 'Tag' field is highlighted with a red box and a red circle '2'. The 'Steel' and 'NDE log' sections are highlighted in yellow, with a red circle '1' in the top right corner of the yellow area.
