Receive submittals directly through DocBoss

Provide a dedicated portal for your suppliers to upload and share documents. No more flooding your inbox with massive files.

See the portal in action

This video walks through the key features of the supplier portal and demonstrates how to send and receive submittals:

Collaboration made easy

DocBoss makes it easy to collaborate with your suppliers, preventing delays and keeping your projects on schedule.

Prove direct access

Prevent delays due to missed emails. The portal provides suppliers with direct access to download documents, and their returns are immediately uploaded into your project.

Stay in the loop

Never miss a return with automated submittal notifications, both via email and directly in your system.

User customization

Each contact from the supplier company will have their own access to the portal, and they can organize the data in the way that suits their preferences.

How to create a submittal

It's easy for suppliers to return documents to you through the portal.

Step 1: Select the project

Step 2: Upload the file(s)

Step 3: Enter a submittal number and click send

Simply your workflows with DocBoss
